Riesling KAITON
Alto Adige Valle Isarco DOC

Grape variety Riesling
Naming Kaiton is the original Celtic name for the area around the Kuenhof and the village of Tschötsch above it
Cultivation area South of Bressanone. South-east and partially south-west faced vineyards on an altitude from 550 to 890 metres (1,800 to 2,900 feet)
Climate Warm microclimate with large temperature fluctuations between day and night during the gestation period
Soil Shallow layers of soil characterized by slate and quartz phyllite among the main rock types with a small content of loam
Training system Wire frame (Guyot) with 7,000 to 8,000 vines per hectare
Harvest time Mid-September until end of October
Yield 7,000 to 8,000 kg / ha
Age of vines Up to 26 years
Vinification Gentle pressing and processing of the grapes. The fermentation and ageing on fine lees take place in stainless steel tanks and large acacia wood barrels, no malolactic fermentation
Bottling Beginning of May, including a ripening time per bottle of two months
Storage capacity Medium to high ageing potential

Description In colour pale yellow, complex nose with apricot, mango and notes of acacia flowers, stimulating acidic taste.

Analytical values
Alcohol 12.0 % Vol. Acidity 7.7 g / L
Residual Sugar 7.0 g / L